Topical Guide to Manuscript Collections

This is a topical guide to the manuscript collections housed in the library of the Fairfield Museum and History Center. While the guide indexes the collection into traditionally researched and defined topics, like education and government, it also designates more obscure categories, like indentured servants, weaving, airplanes, cooking, etc. A special thank you is due Laura Leigh Neville, who compiled this guide over the summer of 2009 while an intern at the Fairfield Museum and History Center.

The Fairfield Museum manuscript collection houses hundreds of documents, letters, diaries, account and letter books, and inventories that pertain not only to the history and development of Fairfield, but also to Fairfield County and Connecticut, as well as the history of the entire United States. For example, complementing a broad array of local materials are letters from Vice President Aaron Burr (his family was from Fairfield and his sister was a longtime resident), letters from General Custer to his troops at the end of the Civil War, and scrapbooks and personal belongings from Ruth Bradley (the first woman in Connecticut to join the Women's Army Corps after Pearl Harbor).

In addition to the manuscripts listed in this guide, the Fairfield Museum also contains a vast collection of maps, photographs, vertical files, and oral histories, as well as rare and contemporary books on historical topics.
